RACIST MURDERS IN SOUTH-LAND

SAN DIEGO : Mexican shot dead

Harold Ray Bassham, a 19-year-old white man, was arrested by San Diego police in April and charged with the shooting and killing of Humberto Reyes Miranda, 23, from the Mexico City area. In the words of San Diego immigrants' rights activist Roberto Martinez, "He may have hit just one migrant with his bullet, but it was a shot targeted at all." According to reports, Reyes and several other undocumented migrant workers ran through Bassham's back yard around 8:00 on the morning of Monday, April 20. Neighborhood residents say it's fairly common for border crossers to cut through yards and streets in the area after coming up from Mexico, usually at night.

According to one of Miranda's friends and other witnesses, Bassham got into his car and chased after the men after they passed through his yard. According to Lt. John Welter, Reyes and the other don't appear to have done anything to Bassham other than trespass. The white teenager allegedly pursued the five Mexicano workers a block or two, down a dead end street to the wall of the Interstate 5, which migrants often use to walk north or hook back up with smugglers who take them to L.A. and other

VENTURA : Black teen killed

Three members of what police described as a white-supremacist skinhead gang were arrested in connection with the racially motivated killing of a Black Oxnard teenager at an unsupervised teen party in Ventura on February 28. Timothy Paul Moss, 17, was shot in the back of the head, in the hip, and twice in the back, one bullet piercing his heart, after racial tension erupted in violence at the party. As we go to press, nazi bonehead Ethan Richard Boyle, 22, originally arrested on suspicion of attempted murder, has been sentenced to a year and ten days in jail for violating the terms of his probation on earlier misdemeanor convictions for his actions at the party. Stan Gomez, 25, charged with firing the fatal shots, is scheduled to return to court to face murder charges on April 29. Alonzo Rangel, 22, is charged with hiding the gun used in the killing.

In testimony at a preliminary hearing, Von Allen Gilmore, one of the Black students present at the party, said there was racial animosity before the shooting broke out. "At first they said they didn't want Black people inside," he testified, but the host, a high school girl whose parents were out of town, assured

UPDATE ON BIGOTED VIOLENCE AND RACIST ORGANIZING IN L. A.

San Marino, October 1991

Georgia Gabor, a Holocaust survivor from Hungary, was forced out of her teaching job at Huntington School in San Marino by a campaign of anti-semitic and neo-nazi harassment. Swastikas were painted and carved into her desk and on the door to her room and left visible by school authorities for months. She has filed suit in L.A. and charges with the state Department of Fair Housing and Employment. Since leaving the school under duress, she has continued to be harassed at home by threatening phone calls, and her car was vandalized and marked up "Jews Out of San Marino."

Topanga State Beach, Feb. 29, 1992

Three Japanese American surfers are accosted and attacked by two white men as they prepare to leave the beach. Kurt Burns of Burbank and Kasey Cody of Monterey are accused of shouting racist slurs, hitting one man and knocking off another's glasses and smashing them. The two are charged with battery and violating hate crimes statutes. The two are in custody awaiting a May 4 arraignment.

L.A., March 1982

Offices of Iraj Ershagi, Iranian-born director of the Petroleum Engineering Dept. at USC, are vandalized with acid and oil, and spray-painted "Death to Saddam," and "leave the Jews alone." The attack is condemned by Muslim, Jewish, and Asian American groups.

Anaheim, March 1992

Robert Brock, a Black man who works closely with white supremacists, sponsors a forum opposing gun controls, featuring speakers from the racist "Christian Patriot" movement. Brock is a member of the national steering committee of Willis Carto's "Populist Action Committee," along with former Mississippi Klan leader Robert Weems.

North Hollywood, March 1992

Valley Torah Nigh School is ransacked, vandalized, and spray-painted with swastikas and anti-semitic emblems. In the following days, similar attacks take place at Cal State Northridge and at a private home in Studio City, prompting several Valley-based and city-wide coalitions against hate crimes. Opponents of bigotry come out in large numbers to paint and clean-up the "yeshivah" after the vandalism.

Northridge, March 1992

In vandalism believed related to the North Hollywood attack, several classrooms and a stairwell at CSUN are vandalized with swastikas, KKK slogans, and references to Adolph Hitler. The previous fall, a "sukkah", a ritual Jewish booth, was defaced on the campus, as were Asian and Chicano student posters and offices.

West Hills, March 1992

Two self-styled "survivalists", Gilbert Michaels and Jim McGrath, are arrested for a string of bank-robberies around the San Fernando Valley, including the largest haul in L.A. history, which they were using to finance construction of a doomsday bunker. The FBI discovers 119 weapons stored in the bunker, and are looking for two other men and a woman involved in the robberies, carried out with military style jumpsuits and automatic weapons.

Irv Rubin, leader of the racist Jewish Defense League, is briefly arrested by L.A. police in the investigation of an alleged "murder for hire" plot connected to his free-lance "private eye" business. The D.A. dismisses the case, finding insufficient evidence to file charges.

Torrance, March 1992

Suthin Siwasathiendat, a Thai, is beaten in a racially-motivated attack by a white assailant who asked him if he was Japanese. The man, who escapes, pummels his victim with his fists and pounds his head against a laundry room boiler, leaving him bleeding as neighbors arrive to see what's happening.

Long Beach, March 1992

Latino students and their parents, protesting the demotion of a Latino principal at DeMille H.S., accuse three teachers of roughing up and racially taunting several students. Alma Lopez, the 8th grade class president, told a school assembly that "teachers (were) slapping kids and calling us names."

A group of right-wing Cubans spend several hours harassing a showing of a video called "Peace for Cuba," a report of a earlier NY and San Francisco events opposing U.S. attacks on the socialist Cuban system. Bricks and metal objects are thrown at participants in the program, and a teargas cannister is thrown inside. When several community organizers arrive to help escort people to their cars, the attack is stepped up. Police finally move in at that point, to arrest, not the right-wing Cubans creating the violence, but Michael Zinzun and Wayne Mafundi of the Coalition Against Police Abuse.

Los Angeles, March 1992

Daniel Johnson, founder of the League of Pace Amendment Advocates, which advocates restricting U.S. citizenship to "Aryans," returns to the local area after his unsuccessful run for Congress in the northwest. Johnson opens an office in the Los Feliz area promoting repatriation of African Americans to Africa.

Long Beach-San Pedro, April 1992

Joe Fields, long time neo-nazi activist from the Harbor area, begins his campaign for a seat in the California State Asembly as a candidate of the American Independent party. Fields is a local and national officer of the racist Populist Party, which doesn't have ballot status in CA.

Flintridge, April 1992

The day before Hitler's Birthday, the so-called "Tesla Walkers" gather in Descanso gardens to celebrate "Patriots Day." The ultra-right "Liberty Lobby" promotes Nicola Tesla as a scientist whose work has been suppressed by a supposed Jewish conspiracy.

Los Angeles, April 1992

The mostly Black Congregational Church, United Church of Christ is vandalized for the second time in three weeks, defaced by racist and satanic symbols including the Ku Klux Klan logo. Nazi skinhead groups have been known to link satanism with racism. The Church was the organizing center for protests against the police beating of Rodney King last year.

Van Nuys, April 1992

A student at the private Stratford Prep admits having spray-painted and scratched threatening and obscene slogans on lockers and a teacher's car at the school. Police had been investigating the incident as a hate crime.

Long Beach, April 1992

By a vote of 12-10, the Community Interracial Council at Polytechnic High School permitted a campus club to form using the name "Caucasian Ancestry Club," despite arguments that the name was racially-charged and might be seen as a white supremacy group. The 45 members say they want to study European history and culture.

Valley College, April 1992

A school newspaper column by editor Chris Mayda, blaming the problems of poverty on uneducated Black and Latino parents having too many children, sparked protests of racism. Accusing her of racism and dishonesty, and of violating the paper's policies against "racial, ethnic, religious, sexist or sexually oriented denigration," many staffers on the paper called on her to resign.

Ventura, April 1992

Rep. Elton Gallegly introduces a bill calling for the deployment of 2000 new Border Patrol agents, drawn from the ranks of military personnel being displaced by defense cutbacks, to "fortify" the border. Liberal Democrat Rep. Tony Beilenson, reapportioned to a more conservative district, announced his support for an earlier Gallegly proposal repealing the 14th Amendment guarantee of citizenship to everyone born in the U.S.

Van Nuys, April 1992

A kosher butcher shop is destroyed in an arson fire on Hitler's birthday, while the owner was away on a Passover holiday. Swastikas were painted on interior walls before the store burst into flames, but police say they are unsure the destruction was a hate crime.

Northridge, April 1992

Hitler's birthday, April 20, is marked by the stuffing of racist and anti-Jewish flyers into student lockers at Nobel Junior High School. The anti-Black, neo-nazi leaflets were produced by the National Socialist White American Party, based in Pacific Palisades.

San Diego, April 1992

A white teenager shoots at a group of undocumented workers trying to climb up a freeway on the I-5, killing Humberto Reyes Miranda. (See story this issue.)

Ventura, April 1992

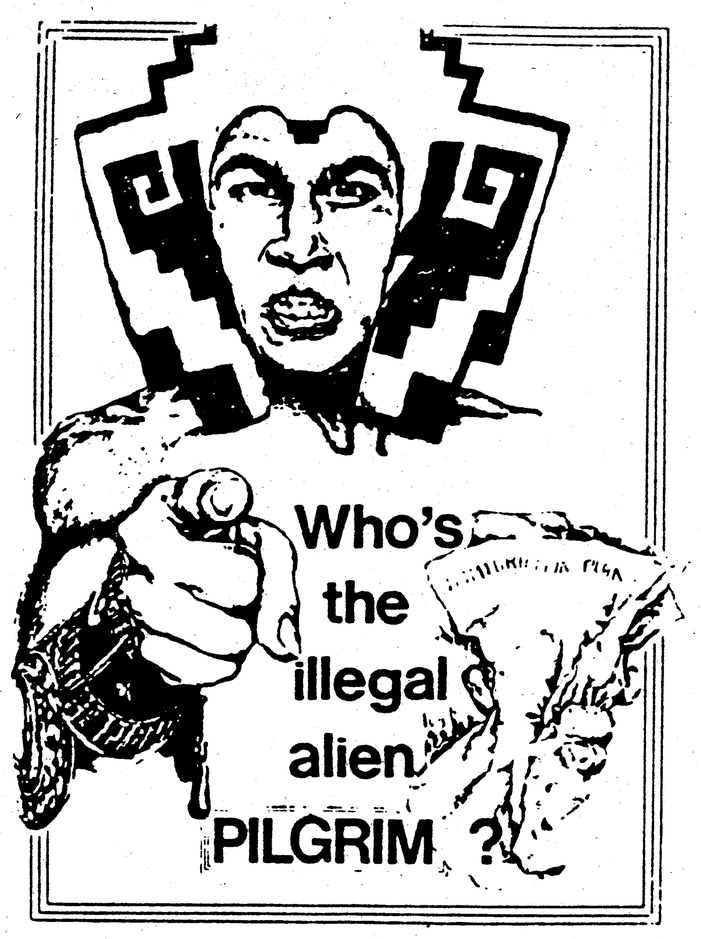
Court proceedings are scheduled to begin April 29 against a nazi skinhead accused of the racially motivated killing of a Black teenager at a party earlier this year. (See story this issue.)

Fountain Valley, April 1992

Anti-Jewish leaflets are taped to poles and placed in student lockers at Fountain Valley H.S. shortly after Hitler's birthday. The leaflets are an altered, anti-semitic version of a flyer opposing racism distributed by the San Diego chapter of the American Jewish Committee. The same leaflets were distributed at a supermarket in Fountain Valley last year.

Brea, April 1992

Michael James Tarantino, a 21-year-old Fullerton College student, is charged with attempted murder in a racially motivated attack on two men, one Hispanic and the other Arabic. Because of racial slurs he allegedly made while attacking the two with a screwdriver, Tarantino is booked on suspicion of hate crimes as well. Police find a knife and machete in his car, after stopping him about a mile from the scene of the attack.



Populists, Racists, Liberty Lobby

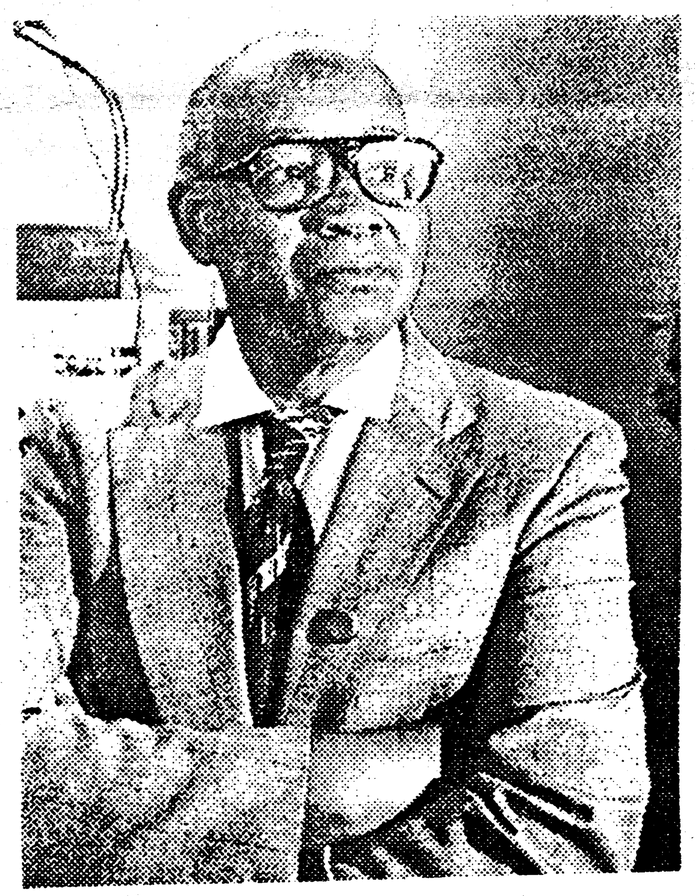
L.A.'s NEO-

The Liberty Lobby and L.A.'s Network of Hate

The Washington, D.C.-based Liberty Lobby was founded and is led by Willis Carto, considered by the ADL to be one of the most notiroius anti-semites in the U.S. today. Liberty Lobby is at the center of an extensive web of racist oriented groups in the L.A. area. The outlines of this "network of hate" began to emerge at a conference in south central L.A. in February (see last issue of T.T.T.). At that meeting, Joe and Dierdre Fields of the racist Populist Party and Tom Marcellus of the "holocaust is a hoax" Institute for Historical Review were the main guests of Robert Brock, a Black man who has made a career of working with white supremacists. Brock even claimed that Carto himself, who rarely appears in public, would be the featured speaker; but Carto failed to show up.

PART began to uncover this story last year by exposing the racist campaign of "Bo" Gritz as the Populist Party candidate for President. We have been investigating the extent of this interlocking network of organizations and front groups. Key figures include:

* Robert Brock, a Black pseudo-nationalist who once styled himself the leader of the erroneously named "Self-Determination Committee," and now heads the "Cosmopolitan Brotherhood Association." Another of his front groups is the south-central L.A. chapter of the American Pistol and Rifle Association, an ultra-right wing anti-gun control associated with the Christian Patriot movement, which considers the NRA "soft" on gun control.



ROBERT BROCK
Liberty Lobby's Populist Action Committee

Despite his claims to be a Black "nationalist", Brock has been denounced as an Uncle Tom sell-out by authentic Black liberation groups like the Malcolm X Grssroots Movement. This progressive Black group led a demonstration outside Brock's south-central event, denouncing his invitation of white supremacists and apologists for genocide into their community. Brock's true political affiliation is as a member of the national board of directors of the Populist Action Committee, another front set up by Carto's Liberty Lobby. (Other members of the board include Robert Weems, the Mississippi Klan orator who was the first chairman of the racist Populist Party, "Bo" Gritz, and Fletcher Prouty, the former military intelligence officer who is fictionalized as "Col. X" in the film "JFK.") The Populist Action Committee has commended the campaigns of such open racists as former Chicago nazi leader Art Jones.

* Joe Fields, who is the long-time nazi activist from the Harbor area who runs the racist Populist Party locally. He is also a member of its national executive committee. Fields first achieved notoriety a decade ago when he published stories questioning the truth of Hitler's genocide in the Harbor College newspaper. He continued his career with such exploits as going into an Oktoberfest celebration at a German restaurant in Torrance with a group of fellow nazis wearing swastika pins. Fields became a national political footnote last year when a tape-recording of an interview with him and David Duke, in which Fields is open about his nazi orientation and admiration for Hitler while Duke counsels him to be more discreet, helped convince voters to reject Duke's candidacy for governor of Louisiana.

JOE FIELDS
neo-nazi chair of Populist Party, L.A.

Fields has worked closely with Brock, appearing at his south central program and using Brock to front for Populist Party gatherings in Pasadena. Fields is currently running for the California State Assembly from a district in the Long Beach-San Pedro area on the American Independent Party ticket.

* Dierdre Fields, Joe's "Afrikaaner" (white South African) wife, is a racist activist in her own right. Dee, who met Joe when both were involved in Carto's Institute for Historical Review, now represents a group called "Friends of White South Africa." Dee, who was one of the featured guests at Brock's program, speaking about an immigrant's view of the Bill of Rights, was a guest on the Liberty Lobby's "Radio Free America" show hosted by Tom Valentine, along with a representative of the former white supremacist "Rhodesia" (now Zimbabwe) in February and March. Her remarks were reprinted in a two-page spread in Carto's newspaper "The Spotlight," on April 13, 1992. Denouncing even attempts by the ruling Nationalist Party to reform apartheid, Dee Fields blames Harry Oppenheimer and the "money power" (neo-nazi code words for "Jews") for selling out South African whites.

* Daniel Johnson, formerly based in Glendale, toured the country extensively in the late '80's with Brock, promoting an amendment to the U.S. Constitution which Johnson had authored under a phony name. Labelled the "Pace Amendment," this would have abolished the 14th amendment (applying the Bill of Rights to the states) and restricted U.S. citizenship to people of Northern European descent (so-called "Aryans.") Johnson ran his League of Pace Amendment Advocates as a kind of racist pyramid scheme, promising "advocates" a cut of the membership fees of new members they brought in. League headquarters in Glendale were firebombed a couple of years ago, shortly after Johnson went up to the northwest to run for the Congressional seat vacated by Dick Cheney (who became Bush's secretary of defense after John Tower was rejected by the Senate). Johnson's "campaign manager", a nazi bonehead, was arrested on weapons posession charges for having a sawed-off shotgun, and Johnson failed to garner any significant support in the supposed Aryan homeland in the northwest. Now he is back in L.A., running an office in the Los Feliz area that is promoting repatriation of "Blacks" to Africa through ads in Carto's Spotlight.

* Willis Carto, the "grey eminence" of the racist, anti-semitic right wing, has his fingers in many pies. Founder of the Spotlight, the Liberty Lobby and the southern-California based Institute for Historical Review, Carto was a follower of Hitler admirer Frances Yockey and once established his own society for repatriating African Americans to Africa, according to investigative reporters Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson. The IHR promotes what is called "revisionism," which essentially defends Hitler as a savior of Western civilization betrayed by Anglo-Jewish conspirators led by the Rothschilds. Revisionists portray Hitler's genocide as a "big lie" invented by the Jews to burden whites with guilt and exploit them; perversely, this "lie" is then used as proof that the deceitful Jews deserve eradication. After the IHR headquarters in Torrance were fire-bombed, it relocated to Costa Mesa, and sponsors annual gatherings at which Holocaust revisionists propagandize each other and plan their strategies, such as the current effort by revisionist Bradley Smith to place ads in college newspapers "questioning" the holocaust.

DEE FIELDS
Friends of White South Africa

* Mark Weber, editor of the IHR's "theoretical journal," was also a featured guest at Brock's event, and although Carto himself was a no-show, Weber did turn up, to tell reporters that "Blacks and whites could never live together." He told a TV cameraman that "a close reading of the Emancipation Proclamation will show that even Abraham Lincoln wanted to send the Blacks back to Africa." It was interesting that Weber, more often associated with anti-semitism, was more open about the racial basis of his beliefs. Weber came to the IHR from the National Alliance of William Pierce, publishers of the racist National Vanguard. Pierce is the author of the "Turner Diaries," a fictionalized account of a near-future white supremacist guerrilla war, resulting in the extermination of Blacks, Jews and white "race-traitors" and "race-mixers." The book served as the basis and inspiration for the white racist underground known as the Order, which drew into its ranks several of Joe Fields nazi and klan associates from L.A. for a mid-'80's reign of racist terror.

* Stan Witek, the criminal who ran the local nazi party, is currently serving time for a triple-cross-burning carried out in the San Fernando Valley in 1983. Other participants in the cross-burning included Tom and John Metzger of San Diego's WAR (White Aryan Resistance), Richard Butler of the Idaho-based Aryan Nations, and Frank Silva, local head of the KKK. Silva and at least three other cross-burners were later convicted of their involvement in the Order, which killed a Jewish talk show host in Denver, held up Brink's trucks and banks, and planned for race war, assassinations and the destruction of dams. Fields was an associate of Metzger, Witek, and several other local nazis involved in the cross-burning, which some believe cemented the southern California anchor for the Order.

This is not the only association between L.A.'s neo-nazi nexus and the Order. "Bo" Gritz, the Populist Party candidate for president, was closely associated with Pete Peters, the Colorado "minister" whose racist congregation was another major recruiting ground for the Order, along with Butler's Aryan Nations compound in Idaho. It was for ridiculing "Col." Jack Mohr, a racist guest of Pete Peters' (and until recently, also a backer of Gritz) that Colorado radio host Alan Berg was targetted for murder by the Order.

"BO" GRITZ,
Populist/American Independent candidate

Other figures that have popped up as part of the Carto-Brock-Fields nexus of racist Populists and revisionists in the L.A. area include Tom Marcellus, editor of the IHR newspaper, who also turned up at Brock's event; Russ Morrow alias Tom Reveille, who ran a pirate radio station in the Venice area with financial backing from Carto. ("Reveille" reportedly met with Fields and with open members of the nazi party locally); Ted Nicholoff, chair of the L.A. County central committee of the American Independent Party; Edson Johnson, a frequent advertiser in the Spotlight from Altadena; Ruth Coffey, of "Stop Immigration Now!" in Long Beach; and Colin McInnis, a former espouser of Metzger's "Third Position" anti-communist, anti-capitalist ideology and Pace Amendment advocate who appears to have drifted into the Populist orbit.

This is a network, not a hard and fast organization. The components are prey to in-fighting and factionalism. Carto, for example, is often at odds with the leadership of the Populist Party, and is currently scrapping with national Populist chair Don Wassall, as he did earlier with American Independent leader Shearer from California, who took his party into and then back out of the Populists. But they often seem to coalesce again, just as the American Independent Party is working closely again with Fields of the Populists and offering its ballot line to Gritz as part of his "america First" coalition. Fields for his part has been more supportive of Pat Buchanan and David Duke than of Gritz's candidacy. But as Duke has faded and Buchanan has opted for mainstream legitimacy in the Republican Party, many of the racist factions will probably close their ranks in the Populist Party campaign in the fall (unless they see a chance to infiltrate Ross Perot's candidacy).

Meanwhile, they are trying to expand their ranks or dupe other political groups into providing protective coloration to disguise their nazi beliefs. For example, Brock and the Populists invited the Students for America, a group associated with Pat Robertson's Christian Coalition, to join in one of their events; to another, they invited representatives of the Libertarian Party. Similarly, Gritz peddles his views as much through the "new age" movement and on the airwaves of Pacifica radio as he does through Christian Patriot/Christian Identity circles. His Center for Action sponsored a conference in Nevada in 1990, to which he attracted Fr. Bill Davis of the Christic Institute and David Stockwell, while at the same time providing a platform for the anti-semitic views of Eustace Mullins, a long-time favorite of Carto and the Libery Lobby crowd.

Southern Californians must become more alert to the organizing efforts of the Liberty Lobby inspired network of racists. If you have information to share about their activities, please contact PART at P.O. Box 1990, Burbank CA 91507.

him Blacks were welcome. However, tension increased, according to a neighbor, when a group of older men in khaki pants and caps showed up. Ethan R. Broyle, a nazi bonehead, began making hostile and negative remarks about Blacks, according to witnesses, and flashed two steak knives. Moss said he wouldn't be intimidated, and showed a gun he was carrying in a shoulder bag.

Ten or 15 Black youths at the party apparantly decided to leave, but as they gathered in the front yard, a gun fight broke out between Boyle and Moss. Because the two exchanged gunfire, authorities apparantly decided not to press any charges against Boyle, even though he had precipitated the incident. People began to flee in all directions. Moss was among those who ran back into the house seeking cover, where Gomez shot him in the back of the head, the right hip, and twice in the back. Gomez admitted to police that he shot Moss, but is now claiming that it was self-defense. At the preliminary hearing, Judge Steven Hintz ruled that there was enough of a case to hold him for trial on murder charges.

According to Deputy Ventura County D.A. Saundra Brewer, a third member of Boyle's group, Alonzo Rangel, 22, took away the gun used to kill Moss and hid it in his car. The next day, a sheriff's deputy pulled him over and found the murder weapon in the vehicle. Meanwhile Boyle was found to have violated the terms of his probation on earlier misdemeanor convictions because he possessed and fired a gun and associated with gang members.

Ventura County has long been a breeding ground for nazi boneheads. One gang originally from Ventura went to Texas for a while, where they acquired extensive weaponry, and then eventually migrated to Oregon, where they were involved in repeated racist terrorism. One Native American family in the Ventura area was the target of repeated harassment by the nazi-skins, and got little support of protection from authorities. The Rodney King trial was moved to Ventura County, where the police officers' lawyers felt they were more likely to get a sympathetic jury from among the mostly white residents, with a high percentage of active duty and retired law enforcement personnel. John Hatcher, the head of the Ventura County NAACP, has been the target for threats and harassment, and condemned the racially motivated killing. "Believe me, skinheads, the Klan, that whole motivation is increasing," he said. "People of color, especially Black people, need to wake up and see what's going on." A Black Ventura High parent told the local papers, "Our kids have to socialize. They have friends of all races. But just because they're Black, they could lose their lives."

cities. According to police, as the men tried to get away, Bassham fired four shots at them from a .25-caliber semi-automatic pistol. One of the shots struck and fatally wounded Reyes Miranda as he climbed up the wall to the freeway. Three of his friends fled, but one stayed with him and flagged down a Border Patrol car for help.

Police spotted Bassham in his car in the neighborhood the next day, and arrested him based on accounts provided by Reyes' friend and other eyewitnesses. Police are treating the killing as a hate crime under state law. "In our opinion," according to Lt. Welter, "the suspect shot the victim because he was an alien crossing his property. Part of his motivation appears to be (Reyes') race and national origin.

The killing is the most outrageous recent result of the anti-immigrant hysteria being promoted by both the racist right and many demagogic politicians. Tom Metzger, released from jail more than three months early to deal with his wife's demise from cancer, immediately applied himself to planning a WAR rally on the border. Under the front name American#1, he has been advertising a June 7 anti-immigration rally in the Spotlight, newspaper of the Liberty Lobby. Meanwhile, Democratic and Republican office-holders like Congressmen Tony Beilinson and Elton Gallegly, and U.S. Senate candidate Bruce Herschensohn are seeking to deflect anger about the government's failure to deal with social and economic ills by scape-goating immigrants as the cause of the problems.

LETTERS TO PART

Dear TTT,

I'm writing to you again to clear things up between DSB and me. In my letter you printed a couple of issues ago, I commented on how some DSB'ers in Dallas turned out to be closet nazis. Since my letter I have received several complaints about what I said. Therefore, I'd like to say I'm sorry if I offended any true members of DSB. I only wrote what I'd been told. As a result, I never was properly introduced to any real members of DSB.

Instead, I had only run into those who had become racist. After exchanging a few words (and fists) with some ex-DSB'ers, now racist, I assumed what I had been told to be true. Even some ex-DSB I've met have told me the reason they dropped out was because of closet nazis in the group.

However, I have recently talked with Duke of the Dallas DSB, and he wasn't thrilled with my letter. So at this time, I would like to express my dearest apologies to Duke, Snag, and all the other true DSB members I may have offended. Please accept my apology for the misunderstanding.

I'd also like the readers of TTT to know that I'm doing all I possibly can to help out the anti-racist movement. Hopefully I can make up for any trouble my remarks might have caused. Thanks for printing this letter of apology, and I hope things turn out for the better.

Misinformed,

Greetings from Toronto!

I work with Prison News Service, and we've been finding your work quite relevant. Just read your research papers, one on the Gulf and the other on abortion. The anti-war piece is exceptionally informative and well put together, and avoids the usual quandary of completely negating anti-semitism when exposing racist zionist activity.

I have more reservations about the abortion piece, not because I disagree with the basic theory. Clearly the radical right can unite around this issue and carve a greater space for racist practice, and clearly they have never opposed sterilization for poor women of color. I sense you're picking up on the issue because you see how effective the racist right can be in misogynist unity. We read a piece by a small fascist group in Ontario called the Third Force, who met with some Black nationalists, and the unity was "the destruction of the family" caused by feminists, gays and abortion. There are contradictions you didn't touch on in the abortion piece that you covered quite well in the anti-war piece; for example NOI being ripe for Metzger's opportunism around the abortion issue as well because they have no feminist or anti-patriarchal politics.

At the same time, the white-led reproductive rights movement has marginalized women of color and poor women. The choice movement must broaden its base, rather than ask women and men of color to fight for a "right" that is not integrated with anti-racist thinking and practice.

Finally, while anti-racist men often understand the focal importance of abortion rights in determining women's status, they still can fail to see that misogynist violence is the enforcer of patriarchal systems. We should be developing theory and practice for men to confront the daily violence, in the same way women have organized rape crisis centers, and ways to break the silence on domestic battering, sexual assault and harassment, incest, etc. White European style patriarchy is the status quo and relies on racist thinking, but it also crosses race lines.

All in all, you're doing great work, and we look forward to your publications.

Dear PART:

I was introduced to your organization through your excellent background report, "WOMEN'S RIGHTS: TARGET FOR RACIST TERROR." Believe me, the documentation presented, linking the so-called "Right to Life" movement with racist and neo-nazi elements, is of invaluable importance. As a grass-roots, direct action movement in northern California, BACORR (Bay Area Coalition for Reproductive Rights) has confronted Operation Rescue and others of their ilk for four years.

In February of this year, a chillling anecdote was related to me. Periodically, the ultra-reactionary Catholic outfit, the St. Ignatius Institute from the University of San Francisco, a Jesuit school, has appeared at clinics, harassing women with "sidewalk counseling," attempting blockades with OR, etc. Two known members of the group showed up at a clinic we were defending, and made their political views known. These twits are ideological soul-mayes of the Institute of Historical Review. Their vile anti-semitic as well as racist, sexist and homophobic verbal attacks were not only tolerated by other "pro-lifers," but actually encouraged. One older anti-abortionist told our escorts, "You Jews, communists faggots, and dykes are responsible for the real holocaust, abortion!" I relay this information because we seem to be a seeing a markedly racist shift in the direction of an embrace of fascism by all factions within "Right to Life." One local group, WEBA, appeared on Tom Metzger's "Race and Reason" show a few years back.

Your efforts are greatly appreciated. Keep in touch!

In solidarity,

Tom Burghardt

Dear PART:

Thank you for sending your research reports. I have a couple of additions and changes for you. In reference to the report on the English Only movement, you should be aware that Larry Pratt seems to be in charge of several right wing groups. The groups Gun Owners of America, the Christian Defense Council, and something called "US Border Patrol," all share office space with English First. Pratt or a relative is listed on the boards of all these groups. After the Rodney King beating, Pratt wrote in a letter to the Washington Post that King could have prevented the beating if he had been armed. (Of course, a likelier outcome is that King would be dead). The Christian Defense Council served as the funding agents for Randall Terry after Operation Rescue was levied large fines by a judge in New York for violating injunctions against clinic blockades. They collected money slated for OR and funneled it to them so that government agents wouldn't be able to get it for the fines.

In reference to your report on the anti-abortion movement, Father Paul Marx is no longer with the Human Life Center in Minnesota. He founded Human Life International and moved to Gaithersburg, MD. Marx is still a racist. In one of his publications, HLI Special Reports, he reported on a visit to Singapore, where he expressed alarm with the Muslim birth rate being much higher than the Catholic birth rate. HLI has affiliates throughout the world. In South Africa, Dr, Claude Newberry is the HLI affiliate. he is quoted in an HLI Special Report as attributing AIDS transmission in Africa surprisingly not to homosexuals, but to Blacks, fornicate frequently.

I was disappointed to see that you only mention the Army of God without providing more details. Some of the clinic bombings claimed by the Army of God were carried out by a man anmed Michael Bray. I assume he was a member of this group. (PART note: The Army of God also claimed responsibility for kidnaping a doctor in the Midwest who performed abortions, in a prelude to the current "Operation John the Baptist" campaign by OR to harass practitioners and providers.) I think you did a reasonable job of linking the anti-abortion crowd to violent activities. In fact there were many particular events you missed, but this report could easily become a book if you put in all the acts of violence committed by the "pro-lifers."

PART replies:

Thank you for the valuable information. In the latest example of the acceptance of terrorism by the "right to lifers," there have been repeated buteric acid ("stink bomb") attacks on women's clinics in Dallas TX. "Mainstream" leaders of the anti-abortion movement there refuse to condemn these clandestine activities, saying they can "understand" when people trying to serve Jesus and save babies get carried away. This is the same approach that condoned clinic fire-bombings. PART's report on neo-nazi involvement, violence and racism in the anti-abortion movement is still available for $2.00 from us at P.O. Box 1990, Burbank CA 91507.

Heard it through the GRAPEVINE

Dear PART:

I am working on a local underground 'zine, and I'm doing an anti-racist article. I hope you can help me by sending information or flyers I could use. I've already written to several ARA chapters and gotten no response or my letters returned.

Here in Bakersfield, we have a rapidly growing nazi skinhead movement. It doesn't help that Oildale, a suburb of Bakersfield, is almost entirely "white power" oriented. There's a local all-ages night club that a lot of alternative and punk people go to. The nazis and other racists go to the club and start fights with reputed non-racists and ex-SHARP members.

It's urgent that you reply soon. Anything we could use to help would be appreciated.

Thanks,

Barney,

Bakersfield

Gentlemen,

My name is Jeff Hogan. I've been involved in the fight against racism not only locally and nationally, but internationally as well. I am currently vice-president of an excellent organization grouped together to help alleviate our racist streets, D.S.B. (Delta Sigma Beta). We are a national organization with supporters branching to England and Spain.

We are very picky on who we allow to refer to themselves as DSB, hence we have developed a few enemies over our rejection of their membership. This letter is not for recruitment. I wish to share our knowledge with others as well as further educate ourselves on other areas of our plagued society.

Please include us on your anti-racist resource list in the future. We have chapters currently in the following areas -- P.O. Box 542, Rowlett TX 75088; P.O. Box 36316, Fayetteville NC 28303; and P.O. Box 14663, Augusta GA, 30919.

Full of faith, full of fire,

Jeff, DSB

PART replies:

Dear Jeff,

Although we have corresponded with you in the past, our efforts to keep in touch with DSB have usually been unsuccessful. Things we have sent to addresses in NC and GA in the past have been returned to us as undeliverable. We'd like to hear more about your group and its perspective and efforts, as we've gotten some contradictory comments from people who have had contact with supposed DSB'ers, but we don't enough one way or the other to form a judgment. If you have any flyers, 'zines, or other things you have put out, or accounts of your activity, we'd definitely like to see 'em.

P.S. There are no gentlemen in PART (in fact, we're not all men).

Dear friends:

John Brown Anti-Klan Committee is pleased to announce our new half-hour videotape, Behind the Burning Cross: Racism USA. It rips the sheets off the racist right, without being sensationalistic or didactic. It graphically depicts the threat the KKK, WAR and others pose to human rights. It begins with a brief history of the Klan, shows Metzger's TV show, and Aryan Nations "church" service, a nazi rock band and David Duke's electoral campaigns. It concludes with a depiction of a variety of anti-racist activities, showing the potential for grass-roots activism.

The video is available for $50 to institutions, or $15-25 sliding scale for individuals, from John Brown Anti-Klan Committee, 220-9th Street #443, San Francisco CA 94103; tel. (415) 330-5363.

COPS & KLAN: Hand In Hand ?

Continuing disclosures of police complicity with organized racism demand a response from progressive forces, here in California and nationally. In Lanett, Alabama in January, according to Klanwatch, a review board upheld the city's dismissal from the force of two police officers who had allegedly taunted a prisoner with racial slurs and made him wear a KKK hood. In a separate incident reported by Klanwatch that same month, a Latino deputy sheriff with the help of a white deputy, dressed up in Klan robes in an attempt to intimidate Black inmates at the jail in Denver Colorado.

In Alameda, CA in April, it was disclosed that the police department had destroyed tapes and documents concerning the use of racist slurs and Klan references by several Alameda cops. Two police sergeants gave affidavits in court acknowledging that the evidence was actually destroyed last November after patrol officers were disciplined for sending computer messages with references to "niggers" and "nigger night" and dressing in KKK regalia. The police response to the officer's action had been characterized as a slap on the wrist, inadequate to deal with a serious problem of racism on the force. The records and tapes were destroyed by the department after a lawyer twice tried to get copies of them in relation to a suit brought against the city by two dance bars that claim bias by the police and other city agencies had damaged their business.

STOP KILLER COPS!

In Vista CA, a Black man who tried to photograph police officers who were questioning his brother in Dec. 1989, was beaten and arrested himself and had his camera broken. This year, Allen Pettis of Oceanside brought a civil suit against the police for violating his constitutional rights in this incident. In testimony at the trial in April, the former girlfriend of the officer involved in the arrest testified that Officer Scott Gillis was a known racist "who needs help." Mary Carpenter said that Gillis was violent and racially biased and often used terms like "nigger" and "spic." Pettis' lawyer said that Gillis' personnel file at the police contained three citizen complaints of racially motivated violence by Gillis against them.

In San Diego County, a woman civilian employee of the Sheriff's Department, who had filed charges of sexual harassment on the job, filed a new claim for damages at the end of April after receiving a threatening letter through the county mail system at her job at the Las Colinas women's jail in Santee. Sheriff's Department internal affairs division investigators took the letter to try to ascertain who sent it. The letter suggests the writers had been sexually involved with Suzanne Farmer, the civilian secretary, and threatens to expose her sex life to the public. The letter mentions the name of the original sheriff's capt. whom Farmer charged with harassment and forcing her into an affair, as well as four other current and former sheriff's deputies. Farmer's lawyer described the letter as "vile ... pure and simple blackmail."

Meanwhile in L.A., neither the police department nor any prosecutorial agency has made public any findings about Klan recruitment and activity inside the L.A.P.D. despite repeated incidents of harassment of Black officers. P.A.R.T. urges people to support the ACLU's model civilian control of police legislation, which would create the position of a special prosecutor on a state level to investigate charges of police brutality, racism and misconduct. Such a special prosecutor should make the investigation of organized white supremacist, racist and sexist activity among police forces a top priority. PART's research report "Blue by Day, White by Night," documenting dozens of cases of organized white supremacist involvement in law enforcement, is available for $2.00 from PART, P.O. Box 1990, Burbank 91507. For $5, you can get our "police packet," including that and two other reports, one on L.A.'s Christopher Commission, and one on the inadequacy of review boards nationally to deal with racist and sexist brutality by police.

Update on Dhoruba Bin Wahad

Former Black Panther Leader Loses Appeal, Threatened by Prison

Prison News Service

On Thursday December 19, 1991, the New York Court of Appeals re-instated Dhoruba Bin Wahad's conviction and paved the way for his possible re-incarceration. Dhoruba is a former member of the Black Panther Party who was framed by the FBI and the New York City Police Department (NYPD). Now almost two years since his release on March 22, 1990, Dhoruba faces the possibility of re-imprisonment. After robbing Dhoruba of nineteen years of his life the Manhattan District Attorney (D.A.) may deny him his remaining years of freedom and silence him once again.

Dhoruba's conviction was overturned on March 22, 1990—packed to overflowing capacity by his supporters—Dhoruba was released on his own recognizance. At the time of his release, Dhoruba was one of the longest held political prisoners in the world. Dhoruba won his freedom after waging, along with his attorneys, an exhausting, decade-long legal battle to obtain over 300,000 pages of FBI and NYPD documents. These documents prove conclusively that Dhoruba had been targeted and later framed because of his membership in the Black Panther Party. They include 19 inconsistent and exculpatory statements made by the key witness against Dhoruba.

The D.A., in cahoots with the NYPD, withheld this critical evidence at all three of the trials that it took to convict Dhoruba. The witness would be significantly damaged if it became known that she had repeatedly changed her story. Obviously, this fact, if known, would have probably resulted in Dhoruba's acquittal. However, because Dhoruba's first trial had ended in a mistrial, and the second in a hung jury, the Manhattan D.A.'s office was desperate and used whatever (legal and illegal methods—including withholding crucial evidence—to ensure that the third trial would result in a life sentence for Dhoruba.

Although Dhoruba knew all along he was being framed, it was only later that he learned that his frame-up was a combined effort of city, state and federal "law enforcement" agencies. At the time of Dhoruba's conviction, he did not have concrete evidence to prove that he had been framed. It was only after he had exhausted his direct appeals that he and his attorneys obtained material proof of his frame-up. If this evidence had come to light during his direct appeals he would have automatically been granted a new trial, under current New York State law. The Court cooperated in Dhoruba's frame-up because it did not force the prosecution to turn over the withheld evidence sooner when Dhoruba would have been guaranteed a new trial.

Once convicted, Dhoruba had virtually no legal remedies available to him. It was sheer diligence that led Dhoruba and his attorneys to seek relief by filing a 440.10 motion, an obscure post-conviction remedy.

The December 19, 1991 decision of the Court of Appeals has broad political and civil implications for the poor and falsely accused. Dhoruba was fortunate enough to have attorneys who were willing (because of their personal and political commitment) to pursue his case during the direct appeals process and afterwards, They carried through despite the fact that Dhoruba was unable to pay them. Most poor people are not so fortunate.

The Court of Appeals' decision essentially encourages the prosecution to withhold evidence until a defendant's direct appeals are exhausted. It sanctions misconduct and political repression. It rewards law enforcement agencies for failing to abide by the very laws they are sworn to uphold. It sends a clear message to "law enforcement" agencies that they can use whatever methods they want to send some one to prison whether they are guilty or not.

Exchange with "Radio FreeVenice" Founder "Tom Reveille" about the Illegitimacy of Anti-Semitism

Populist Questionnaire for Pro-Semitic Nazis Masquerading as F.A.R.T. (Frauds Against Racist Terror), in reality FAFA (frauds Against the First Amendment)

1. What is a racist? a nazi? an anti-Semite (the opposite of a pro-Semite)?

2. Is there a difference between being a nazi in the Third Reich and in the US of the 90's? What?

3. What is a bigot? A "hate criminal"? Where does hate come from? How do we deal with it?... Does the first amendment guarantee us a "right to bigotry"? Are there limits to this ryt? What are they?

7. If not, whats the remedy for bigotry? For hate crimes? Does repression ever work as a solution to a problem? Where?

9. Is dislike normally to be equated with "desire to exterminate"?

10. Are there constitutional limits to free speech?

11. Is there any difference between words -- even violent, inflammatory words -- and actions? What?

13. Is there any difference between demonstrations, ... even bookburning, by a politically insignificant faction in a quasi-democratic context -- and bookburning by a totalitarian government? What?

14. Are ideas spread by contagion? If not, how?

19. Has any minority group (S Africa, N Ireland, the Confederacy, Eastern Europe et al) to yr knowledge, ever allowed themselves to be dispossessed or lose their status without a struggle? Any reason to expect them to? Wd u? Any ideas for tackling this problem? Not that I'm dumb enuf to expect ideas from u...

22. If the rhetoric of such groups hapns to resemble or is consciously patterned after that of Hitler & Co, facing what they felt was a similar problem (fyting "contamination of the pure Aryan race" etc) is that either surprising or hateful?

24. If we feel a certain group are wrong or mistaken in their solutions to such problems, what's the "correct" response: a} deny the problem, smear the group as racist (nazi, anti-Semitic), attempt to confront them physically at every opportunity, refuse them a public hearing on the grounds that it wd "legitimize"* racism) & then try even to disrupt their private gatherings -- seek in short to DESTROY the group by any means? OR: b} seek every opportunity to confront them in open forum & set them strate by demonstrating how our more accurate diagnosis leads to a more nearly just solution of the problem?

25. Is there anything wrong with separatism (secession?) as a political aim? What? What's a "white supremacist"? Cd it by any chance be someone who hasnt been allowed to secede? If separatism isnt a viable solution, what is?

28. Any changes u care to make in yr answers to the first question?

AT YR SERVICE FOR PUBLIC AIRING...
Tom Reveille

* What ideas are illegal and need to be "legitimized"?  Joe Fields may well do this to u (he appears to be as good a hater as u, Mike, if not as cowardly) if he had the power, but he doesn't. Nowadays, he and his ilk are the victims -- u & yrs the nazis...

Bill Mitchell (has) spread scurrilous lies about the Spotlight, its publisher the Liberty Lobby, the Institute for Historical Review, Willis Carto, the founder of the three populist, revisionist organizations -- and me, TOM REVEILLE, who am proud to call myself (Carto's) friend and ally in seeking the constitutional overthrow of the foreign govt imposed on our country by the Money Power ...

PART REPLIES: Dear Tom:

You raise some interesting questions, and despite the hostile tone of your letter, we're happy to try to answer them to the best of our ability. PART has never shied away from printing challenging letters. We have run hate mail in the past, even less rational than yours, in an attempt to get at the real issues it raises, or at valid concerns of open-minded people.

First of all, we want to make clear that PART never advocated and does not support the closure of Radio Free Venice. The action by the FCC was an attack not only on your station but on all "pirate radio." You should be aware that most of the other targets of the FCC have been small operations by outspoken Black community broadcasters. PART has spoken out against this in the past and does so in your case as well, despite condemning the content of the Liberty Lobby/"Populist" approach.

Second, PART has never attempted to confront the Populist Party or other racists physically at every opportunity, refused them a public hearing, or tried to disrupt their private gatherings. We do, however, plead guilty to seeking a society in which racist and hate-filled groups with a history of advocating and practicing racist terror (like the Klan and the nazis) could no longer exist. We never tried to kick the Populists out of the Pasadena library or P.C.C. In one case, we demonstrated outside the meeting to expose the true nature of the group. In the other, people attended a publicly announced program about the Bill of Rights to hear what the Populists and other involved groups were up to. In the case of Robert Brock's program in south central L.A., PART came out in solidarity with the demonstration called by the Malcolm X Grassroots Movement, and we support their statement that racists and neo-nazis have nor right to meet UNCHALLENGED in the African and Latino community (or, we would add, in the white community). We will continue to challenge racism in all its forms, whether from the government, the police, or "insignificant" racist groups.

We oppose illegitimate authority. When you ask if any minority group has lost its status without a struggle, the answer is of course, no. But by the very examples you give, you're talking about minorities that exert illegitimate control over majorities. Racism, anti-semitism (the notion that the Jews are to blame for all the problems) and other ideologies of hatred have always been used to justify this oppression.

Ideas in themselves are certainly not illegal. But some prejudices masquerading as ideas do not deserve to be dignified by debate. The National Vanguard, a publication that subscribes to the "revisionism" about the Holocaust that you seem to preach, makes it clear why this issue is so vital those who hate the Jews and blame them for all the ills of society. They expressly state that defining the round-up of European jewry and subsequent genocide as a hoax actually perpetrated by the Jews against the Gentiles (rather than by the nazis against Jews, Romani (Gypsies), gays, communists, dissenters and the disabled) is essential to defining the Jews as a group which is waging a war through deceit on white westerners -- and that since they are therefore the self-declared enemy, Jews may be dealt with by any means necessary.

That's why "holocaust revisionists" are always seeking "debates:" Their victory is from the outset making it appear, not only that genocide is debatable, but that their white-washing of Hitler's crimes is legitimate and plausible. The mass murder of Jews, Romani, homosexuals and dissidents within the reach of the Third Reich is an uncontestable historical reality, just like the genocide of the indigenous people of Africa and the Americas by Europeans motivated by the same type of power-hunger and expressing the same "ideas" of white racial superiority.

Dhoruba Remains Free

On February 12, 1992, Dhoruba Bin Wahad went to court, facing a bench warrant for a failure to appear at a court hearing on February 5th which could have resulted in his re-imprisonment due to the December New York Supreme Court decision. Dhoruba had refused to attend the February 5th hearing since his lawyers could not attend and the judge refused to cancel the hearing. On the 12th, the judge decided to let Dhoruba remain free on bail until another hearing in April.

There's nothing wrong with separatism in itself. The problem is that when you scratch most of the white racial separatists, you find a colonialist, who believes god gave white people the right to rule over the "inferior" races, and to enjoy the benefits that accrue from exploitation, slavery and land theft.

As to the difference between Hitler and his current day admirers, the difference is that the neo-nazis do not yet have the power they seek. But of course, Hitler was once an "insignificant" rabble rouser and ex-con himself. The lesson of his rise to power is that we must be vigilant, and recognize that fascist thugs become instruments in the hand of the exploiters. Ideas like Hitler's do not spread by infection. They are imposed through force and fraud, unless they are opposed with reason, tolerance, militance and solidarity among the oppressed. The fact that Joe Fields is, thankfully, currently incapable of enforcing his ideas either through state power or through brown-shirt thuggery, does not thereby make him a victim. He is a self-professed nazi by virtue of his beliefs, who has stated that Jews deserve anything they get, even extermnination; that he only supports speech and other rights for the white man; that he doesn't support democracy because it gives anything that can claim to be human the right to vote.

When you, Carto, Dee Fields and other "populists" talk about the "money power," based on the totality of your practice and preachings it is fair to "de-code" that as an anti-semitic reference to Jews. This is classic scapegoating, the reason why nazis have in fact always been quite palatable and useful to the powers-that-be, the ruling economic elite. Racism is systematic in our society, and central to the entire structure of domination and exploitation. The out-front hate groups are only one manifestation of this reality. The higher unemployment rate among communities of color, the higher infant mortality rate, the redlining of housing and businesses by the banks, the greater incidence of imprisonment, the denial of adequate medical care and education, is not the responsibility of the KKK, but of the government and the corporate ruling elite. Yet the Populists, Klan and other hate groups have the audacity to claim that the system now favors minorities and discriminates against whites. It is clear that the reason for this "white rights" rhetoric is only to disguise the goal of extermination.

I'm curious, finally, as to why you say that Fields is not as "cowardly" as PART (or me personally). Fields tried to disparage PART as being more cowardly than InCAR, which has repeatedly engaged in physical confrontation with the Populists and other neo-nazis and klan types. You and he seem to be saying that refraining from a physical confrontation is cowardice (somewhat contradictory since the rest of the time you're accusing us of "preventing" you from speaking. How?). It's in fact the Klan and the nazis who exemplify the classic cowardice of the bully.

PART will not be goaded by this cheap school-yard male chauvinist crap into allowing you or Fields to set the terms of our struggle against white supremacy. We don't set ourselves up as the anti-racist counterpart of the nazis or the klan, though we do uphold the right to self defense. Fields and other committed neo-nazis and racists will not, in general, be "set strate" by debate, though occasionally a few of the hard-core racists do see the error of their ways and redeem themselves by exposing what their fellows were up to. We're not interested in trying to correct the Populists and other neo-nazis through physical confrontation. But we will impede their organizing through exposure; we will educate about the true nature of their beliefs and the threat they pose; we will continue to try to create a base among white people for international and inter-racial solidarity and justice.

A one hour audio tape, featuring Michael Novick, editor of Turning the Tide, discussing the racist Populist Party, the "Bo" Gritz candidacy, and the neo-nazi history of Joe Fields, including excerpts from an interview with Fields and David Duke, is available for $5 post-paid from PART. The tape is a recording of an interview originally conducted by Bill Mitchell on radio station KPFK.
